Love This Series

This was very well written. A lot of love and caring in these pages. As with all the books in the series it's clean so everyone can enjoy the story. I think each story gets better than the last. I love each of them. This is a great one.

This one was a pleasurable surprise. Kirsten's books are usually the most silly and senseless books in the series, but, maybe because this is an older couple, the book felt more mature and not annoying. The relationship was lighting fast, like all the others in the series, but in a sense it made more sense because of the couple's backgrounds. Frank is an older man that never got married, but is looking for someone to share his life, and Debbie is a woman that lost her first husband too soon and had to raise her children alone, but now that they are old enough to start their own families, she needs something new to do and someone new to spend her time with. After spending so many years focused on her children, she needs to start focusing on herself. I liked the focus in an older couple, it was refreshing and cute.

Another great story

This is one of the stories that don't follow the siblings but a romance of a relative. Bob the chef is married to Miranda and her mum is employed to run the childcare centre, she meets the lonely helicopter pilot and romance blossoms. The long awaited child of Kelsi makes a dramatic appearance so read the story to catch up.

Happy tears

Neither Kirsten nor her fellow writers waste time with long drawn out takes of misunderstandings, faux pas, etc.

You get straight forward human behavior with amusing twists. Love it.

Lovely read about finding love for the second time.

Ahhhh! What can you say, this is by far the sweetest of all the River's End Ranch books, it was lovely to have a book about an older couple, finding their second love.

There is no major drama or heart ache in this one, just a really sweet, easy read - it is quite short, almost a novella, it can easily be read in a couple of hours. You cannot go wrong with this series, especially as it is also on kindle unlimited.

Too good- Never

Kirsten Osbourne knows how to make a reader happy! Frank and Debbie aren't your typical romantic couple. After all, they are in their forties. But Jaclyn and the fairies have spoken. For Debbie, it's her turn at a second chance. Widowed for twenty years, it's time for her and she suits this flyboy's fancy!

Reviewed at Romance Is Ageless

Flyboy's Fancy brings us another new resident to the River's End Ranch and a fun romance for a couple of really nice people. With the opening of the new Kid's Korral at the resort it's time to find the person who will take control of that children's center. Miranda's mother Debbie once worked in early child development before she became a widowed mother of two little ones. Then making a good living was more important, but she'd always missed working with little ones. She's taken a chance and applied for the director's job at the Kid's Korral and has just learned that the job is her's. It's a big change but the right one – and even more changes are in store once she arrives at the ranch.

I enjoyed this story in particular because we got a few updates on happenings around the ranch. All good ones. But because I'm a firm believer in not spoiling a story for other readers – I'm going to let you discover those special moments for yourself. Let's just say that the happy level is going to skyrocket at River's End Ranch and you'll enjoy every single moment of it all.

If you haven't started the River's End Ranch series yet, I certainly would recommend that you go back to the beginning and get caught up in some very special and unique people's lives. I'd recommend Flyboy's Fancy and this entire series to any Romance reader who loves fun stories, believable situations, loving couples and a wild and crazy group of secondary characters who wander in and out of each other's stories. This is a community build on love and respect and I'm loving being able to take part in the adventures of this series.

I read this title through my Kindle Unlimited subscription.

Love

So excited about Kelsi and Shanes! Will not say too much for fear of ruining it for someone else. Excited for Bernie's story

Mature Romance with a Wacky Weston Baby Delivery

Ms. Osbourne is back in this series with a mature romance that was sweet. Debbie and Frank deserved happiness and love together. However, it's got lots of her trademark sass, Bigfoot Ice sculpture and a somewhat zany baby delivery. Kelsi did not disappoint. I look forward to scenes with momma Kelsi and poppa Shane. Their banter is classic. We finally got to meet Mr. & Mrs. Weston. I really enjoy this series and long to find a place like this to vacation.

Review

I loved the story and the characters but find it hard to believe any one could fall in love as quickly as the characters in these stories. I would like to find someone like Jaclyn to predict my future
