From the dark and bloody ground of Kentucky, to the peaceful Amish communities of Pennsylvania, to the cities and towns crisscrossing Ohio, murder and mayhem has been a part of it all. Within the pages of this latest volume in Notorious USA's New York Times bestselling series you'll discover how the unsuspecting succumbed to the evil that caught them by surprise, and what the authorities had to do to stop the madness.

Cases include:

Kentucky

Sarah Hansen - A cheerleader and all-around good kid, she met a nightmarish death.

Heather Teague - A young woman is abducted from a beach and is never seen again.

Margaret Seitz - A mother of five, she killed two of them and then herself.

Dr. John Strange - A newlywed disposes of his bride but doesn't know what to do with her head.

James Sefchick and Danny Tetrack were drive-in killers, and no ticket-taker was safe.

Jessica Thornsberry - Only 12, she went to her friend's house for a sleepover and wound up dead.

Pennsylvania

Alec Kreider - He had a hunger for murder and started with his best friend's family.

Charles Carl Roberts - loving husband, father, and killer of young Amish girls.

Gary Heidnik - A collector of women, and it was death to those who complained.

George Sodini - He never found the love of a woman, so he made women a target for murder.

Ohio

Anthony and Nathaniel Cook - A murdering duo, they terrorized Toledo for years.

Death of an Amish Wife - What happened to Ida Stutzman?

Donald Harvey - An ordinary looking man, he earned the title: Angel of Death.

Della Sutorius - She loved the book, The Bad Seed, and guided her life accordingly.

From Reader Review Unnatural Causes (Notorious USA Box Set: Kentucky, Pennsylvania & Ohio) for online ebook

Ronnie Cramer says

Three short true crime books in one, featuring cases from Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Some are fairly obscure, but many have been given book-length treatment elsewhere, including: Dante Sutorius in DELLA'S WEB by Aphrodite Jones, Alec Krieder in A NEED TO KILL by Michael Cuneo, Gary Heidnik in CELLAR OF HORROR by Ken Englade, and Eli Stutzman in Gregg Olsen's own ABANDONED PRAYERS.

I enjoyed reading the book, despite the fact that it often has a thrown-together quality to it--with awkward sentence construction and plenty of errors. For example, the Dustin Hoffman film STRAW DOGS is described as 'Al Pacino's latest flick.' Not a life-threatening mistake, but an illustration included in the book (!) clearly identifies it as a Hoffman vehicle.

True crime in Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania

The three books in this volume cover true crime cases in Kentucky, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Every story is interesting and informative.

The stories provide more information and details than news reports, and most include photos. These harrowing tales of monsters among us are too frightening to have a place in reality, but this is not the imagination of a writer of fiction at work. Behind the facade of a normal person resides a grotesque demon who solves problems with a deadly weapon.

If I had proofread this book, I would have corrected 40 errors in addition to some incorrect punctuation.

So-so

Sickening, evil, diabolical, demonic and depressing! On the other hand these stories are factual and well done. Sickening as to the light sentences given to these animals.

Interesting cases

This is a collection of murders that occurred and were solved by law enforcement.. I found it to be very interesting.

A Great Read

Multiple cases that kept me on the edge of my seat and yearning for more. Highly recommend for any true crime enthusiasts.

Amy Schwartz says

I am thoroughly enjoying the Notorious USA series and this one is one of the better ones.

Dale says

Good read

Good story lines and the bad people lose and paid ed for their crimes. My they all burn in hell

Bonnie Kernene says

This is a set of smaller books that are from the Notorious USA series. There are several stories included such as Donald Harvey (serial killer) , Sarah Hansen murder, Heather Teague disappearance. etc. There are quite a few more as well. It is well written and well researched. I found it to be interesting, and included stories I was not aware of, which made it even better for me! I really liked this book, as I like anthologies a lot. The stories are short and sweet, without the extra fluff. I do recommend this book!

Izabela says

I had to get through some editorial errors to truly enjoy this book. The title made me expect something completely different, such as cases with a paranormal twist. Despite my disappointment in the misleading title, I did end up liking the book. The cases were written in a way that was fun to read and many I hadn't even heard of before this book. Even though the accounts were short I still feel like I got all of the information I needed.

Cruel and awful crimes

This was a very interesting collection of stories about some terrible people doing unspeakable crimes. These stories are well documented and written.

Sherrie says

Fascinating True Crime Cases

I'm rating Unnatural Causes 4 stars because I found this book to be well written and well researched. I enjoy reading true crime books and was not familiar with any cases in this book which made reading it all the more interesting. I would recommend this book to those interested in true crime or non fiction.

Very informative

Living in Cincinnati I have heard about some of the murders. It was a very interesting book. I will be reading more of his work

Kynthia says

Great accounts of true crime and how the killers were caught. Gregg Olsen details the crimes in ways that the victims are not accused of anything but being at the wrong place at the wrong time.

April Barber says

I like true crime books, though most of them drag on forever without getting to the point until the end.

This series of books were not like that. Each story was only about what happened and didn't have any fluff to it. They were exciting to read and most of them I hadn't heard of before.

If you like true crime stories, I would recommend this series over others.

Mandy says

Let me preface this review by saying I am a huge fan of true crime compilations. Not in a creepy way (I think) but as a snapshot into human nature; just like reading about great scientists and humanitarians true crime gives us a glimpse into another facet of humanity.

That's where I really feel this book is lacking. Each case starts with a lyrical look at either the criminal, victims or witnesses but then suffers an abrupt change in style going from grandiose description to short summations of the aftermath.

Now both styles have a place. Ann Rule is particularly good at the in depth lyrical style but she carries it through the whole case, looking into investigation, motive, etc. Likewise short factual summations have there place but the mix of the two in this book really frustrated me. The beginning made me feel emotionally invested but the rapid wind up was deeply unsatisfying.
