Bolin wants to be a Firework Maker and enter the Emperor's Great Firework Competition but first he must collect the Seven Sacred Colours. With the help of his grandfather Papa Ling, Bolin finds himself on an adventure which takes him into the heart of the Fire Volcano, to the depths of the Southern Ocean and into the Lair of a dragon.

Can Bolin collect all Seven Sacred Colours before the Great Firework Competition or will he face defeat by the claws of the dragon?

The perfect fantasy adventure for children who like colourful tales of daring and magic.

From the author of 'Zelda and the Crystal Slippers' & 'The Space Baby' Series.

Michelle Arredondo says

First off thanks to the goodreads-Powers-that-be for my win on this free book. Also a thanks to R.W Mitchell for being one of those Authors that reaches out to his readers via personal message inviting me to enjoy his wonderful little book. A quick and super cute read....with a great message at the end. Speaking of the end, I loved it...answering the question that I actually did want to know and thought it was just brushed away. I read this to myself and then I read this to my grade school child and he absolutely loved it...so if he loves it then I love it and plan on reading it to him again and again...and then to my 4 year old when he becomes interested..which I am most sure that he will.
