Abby Hayes was my favorite middle school book character, and sometimes I still find myself reminiscing on how amazing of a character she really is. She is fun, relatable and down right honest. Abby just wants to have her own "thing" that she's great at. Her two older sisters are perfect in her eyes, and so is her younger brother. She feels quirky and that she doesn't fit into her family. Abby has a collection of calendars that she has all hanging in her bedroom and she looks at the quotes every day. Abby's favorite color is purple and she has a purple notebook she writes her thoughts in. Abby's journey in this book will take you on an adventure to find out what her special talent is. I remember wanting to be Abby and looking up to her. Middle School girls will love this series and I hope to have every book in the series in my classroom library for my future students to explore!
