When adventurers are stressed and tired, there's only one place to go-hot springs! Kazuma and crew head to a town well known for their amazing open air baths and atmospheric surroundings. The only problem is that it's also famous as home to the Axis Church. Aqua couldn't be more delighted to visit all her "cute" followers but the others have heard more than enough stories to be afraid...

Marcus Leong says

Finally at where the two seasons of anime have stopped!

The climax is understandably different; the battle with Hans is much less climatic, but more strategic, and Kazuma did not actually have to die again. And Aqua actually got to prove her point that she is in fact a true-to-life goddess to some Alcanretians! Without her knowing, that is~

And of course, there's a lot more set-up for future events in the story...which makes me worry if there is going to be a next season of the anime or not.

Carol says

My God this was fun, the whole gang at some hot springs. Figures they would run into problems as usual, but aside the fact that monsters and Demon Lords generals seem to chase them wherever they are, the whole bit in the hot springs was hilarious. Aqua is really fun, and also distressed that her own believers don't seem to believe her, but then nobody ever does. The Axis Chirch believers are completely whacko, Darkness doesn't change... and it was nice to see Wiz showing some of her true colours. Certainly interesting. Can't wait to read more of them.

Jorge Rosas says

Hilarious! As always it's fun to read Kasuma's adventures, with a steady topic for the entire book it was even more enjoyable.

Aaron Nagy says

This series just gets better and better for me as it goes on. I'm not sure if it's actually getting better or if I am just enjoying it more.

Rolaka Pisarka says

Dobre, oryginalne i przeszabawne, ale anime to arcydzie?o, które przebija LN o lata ?wietlne!!!

Ricardo Matos says

It's not terrible, but there isn't a single joke that hasn't been done on the previous volumes. A bit disappointing. Still fun to read, but not great!
