Marion Parker is mending a broken heart. When her fiancé leaves her at the altar on their wedding day, she picks up the pieces and tries to get on with her life. Not interested in dating, she finds solace in work and painting lessons. She vows to bubble-wrap her heart to protect it from ever shattering again.

Ladies' man and painter extraordinaire Graeme Butler has never fallen in love. As a local celebrity in the art world, he can have any woman he chooses. Yet the one he really wants has eluded him for years...until a chance encounter brings Marion and Graeme together, giving him his shot at having the woman of his dreams...and drawings.

Marion finds something alluring and endearing about Graeme and she quickly discovers her shattered heart is slowly mending. But the closer they get, the more her ex-fiancé tries to pull them apart with lies and deception. She will have to accept Graeme for who he is if she expects him to return her love. Faced to choose between him and her ex, will she see the real Graeme and fall hopelessly in love with him?
