Ok, so here it is. Yes the woman has divorced, and done other unfavorable things but we you cant deny the revelation God has given her.Is God not the God of second chances and the final judge. Just saying. This book was so good, it took me to such a different level in my own prayer life. I have high lighted so many places in this book. A must read for the life of a intercessor.

This book took intensive, constructive research to speak on the altar (temple of God), even the colors inside such as gold, cooper, etc. There are things I'd love to highlight but this is a borrowed book (library) and already added this book to my "wishlist" on Amazon. If you are ready to get a deeper understanding of salvation, strength and power, this book is for you. I can go over many people's head.

I love the "strange fire" concept on page 51 about how other people bring unholy fire, that is not God's fire to the tabernacle like Aarons sons, Nadab and Abihu, in Lev. 10:2-3, where it cost them their lives. This strange fire taints the work of the sanctuary today. We have images of worship, praise, altars, sanctification, and holiness, but denying the power thereof (2 Tim. 3:5). Like Aaron's sons, we are ignoring the pattern to enter in God's presence. The church is operating in strange fire and struggling in their walk with God. Same with strange worship, songs identify with the world and carnal worship (thinking we have to fit in to get in).

"Many people hear the Word but fail to understand they need to do what it says" (p. 36).

As a newbie in ministry as a prophetess, not new to the gifts and calling of God, Juanita is burning me with the FIRE she brings in this book. "Too many believers are coming to the house of God to get fire instead of bringing it." (p. 70). We are to experience the fire by removing the earthly senses and go into the spiritual realm.

Wow it's deep love the woman!
