LaSchelle says

I was glad that we had the opportunity to study the teachings of a prophet that I didn't know much about, but that I grew to love while studying.

Josh says

You can see the importance of keeping a journal. haha. I learned a lot. anything is good when it comes from a prophet of God.

Brian says

An inspiring collection of teachings from an inspiring individual. He wanted to study the classics at the renowned universities of the East coast, but his life's experience took him instead to the western Frontiers and then throughout the great cities of the world.

Dad says

This was the most interesting book in the Presidents series that I have read so far. I hadn't heard too much from Pres. Wilford Woodruff. One thing that amazed me was that his personal journal served as the only witness on many happenings of the Church.

Pres. Woodruff was the 4th president of the Church. It was he that gave the Manifesto in 1890, which started the end of polygamy in the Church. He must have had reservations in doing so.

Amy says

I value reading what past prophets have taught in their own words. Being able to study their words and discuss them in Relief Society has added a lot to my knowledge of my religion.

Heidi-Marie says

Prophet #4. And one of my favorite lessons, of course, is the one on keeping journals.

Daniel Clark says

Awesomeness. This guy was a real seeker of truth; he lived by goodness and taught great things.

Cheryl says

Enjoyed learning about this Prophet. Taught from this book in Relief Society.

Katie says

President Woodruff served from 1889-1893. His teachings provide a great insight into the early years of the church in Utah, and also a greater understanding of the Prophet Joseph Smith, who Wilford Woodruff personally knew. Of his discourses in this book I particularly enjoyed, "The Dispensation of the Fullness of Times," "Humble Reliance on God," "Journals: Of Far More Worth than Gold," and "Agency: Choosing Life or Death."

Dannis Cole says

Like all of the Prophets series, very well-written and historically accurate. I loved learning about President Woodruff and the difference he made in so many lives!

Marilyn says

My neighbor is one of his descendants. He set a great example for us all to follow.

Joy says

Love the stories of President Woodruff. I am so grateful for his diligence in journal writing.

Elaine says

What a good, faithful practical man Wilford Woodruff was! I appreciated his dedication and his down-to-earth manner which was apparent through the sermons compiled in this book. I didn't realize how many of the stories we hear about the early days of the church were truly derived from his legendary journals he kept.
