A Merry Little Christmas: A feel-good holiday romance Marcella Swann

I'm from Talkeetna, Alaska.

Yeah, I know what you're thinking.

It's the freakin' North Pole. You're not joking. There's a store in the center of town called The North Pole. I work there. I'm an elf.

I gotta get out of this place!

See the world. At least the lower 48. C'mon.

But there's this guy. This gorgeous guy.

A Marine. Afghanistan veteran.

He just walked into the store one day. He's tall, dark, handsome. Did I say he's super hot?

OMG! Happy holidays to me.

He's amazing. But I gotta go. Really.

He's so gorgeous, though. Ugh.

And now some funky things are going on in the store. It's like I can see what kids want for Christmas. Whoa. Weird.

It's kind of like Dorothy, the owner, whose Christmas sweaters are horrendous and whose heart is pure gold. Everybody knows she's totally got that kid whisperer thing going.

So this gorgeous guy walks into my life and the Christmas shop starts going all Sixth Sense on me.

Is Christmas trying to send me a message? Or Mr. Marine?

I better figure things out fast because Christmas is coming and I got my one-way ticket out of Talkeetna.

Donna Lain says

A new must read by Marcella Swann. This book features Stephanie who works at a special store/cafe in Alaska and Marcus who has just moved there. This book has everything you could want in a Christmas novel: romance, magic, interesting main and secondary characters and a feel-good story to make you smile. I received an ARC for an honest review.

A Merry Little Christmas is by Marcella Swann. This is a cute book with a touch of magic- Christmas magic. It takes place in Talkeetna, Alaska. It mostly takes place in the North Pole Christmas Shop which is run by Dorothy. There is something about Dorothy that makes you believe in magic. Stephanie has had a rough day with her truck failing to run, having to run across the street in the middle of a parade, getting hit with ice cream, falling down and skinning her knee, as well as being late. However, she feels a tingle when she walks into the store. She only has a few more weeks to work before she is setting off to see what is in the world outside of Alaska. She can hardly wait. Marcus has just come to town from Los Angeles. He is planning to go out into the wilderness and live off the land mainly. However, this first winter may be different. He stops at The North Pole Café for a cup of coffee and meets Jacob, an old-timer who comes to the café. He offers Marcus a broken-down fishing cabin rent free. Marcus takes him up on that. Even as he fixes up the cabin, he comes to the café to see Stephanie. Marcus knows he loves Stephanie and she loves him; but he isn't going to stand in her way to see the world. A compromise must be worked out

I really enjoyed this book it was an easy read and I needed to find out how it ended. It was set in a very small but magical town and shop. The two main characters had different interests , one wanted to leave and see the world to widen her horizon while the other was an ex marine whom wanted to the piece and quiet to find himself again. Lovely Christmas ending it brings back the magic of Christmas and want to make you believe again. 5***** recommend this book to be read.

Story

Talkeetna is a great little town & pleasant to visit during summer. A winter visit might find many businesses closed-typical for business along the Parks Hwy.

This story includes a healthy amount of magic but it ends with an HEA.
