Band Together is a handbook created with the instrumental teacher in mind. This handbook provides band directors with a framework for how they can approach adaptations in their band room. These adaptations are categorized into five chapters: classroom adaptations, notation, aural/visual cues, technology, and adapted instruments. It is sensitive to the public school band director who is under pressure to create a high-level performance with as many students as possible with little time and extra money by including the cost, approximate time to complete it, and helpful hints. The adaptations are created with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEIA, 2004) in mind.
