Just how hot does it get under the lights?

Becca Preston has been in love with Parker Banks for years. But she's resigned herself to the fact her feelings can never be revealed. For one thing, he's a huge Hollywood movie star and a lifetime spent living with her famous father has taught her actors aren't exactly known for their fidelity.

But even more problematic is Parker's dominance. Becca is used to calling the shots and Parker's dark, commanding presence alarms her, leaves her frightened, confused...breathless.

Parker is most at ease onstage. So what better place than Scoundrels for him to capture his elusive beauty, Becca. Tonight, under the lights, he's determined to set her body on fire, bring her darkest fantasies to life...and claim her heart once and for all.

This short story is part two of a trilogy of stories about Becca and Parker's romance and it is connected to the Scoundrels series available now at Ellora's Cave. For better enjoyment, it is suggested that you read Behind the Scenes before reading this book. Approximate word count is 6K words.

Deborah says

Her sexual fantasy is being performed on stage by her with her dream man. But he wants to make it a reality. She loves him but she scared. It ends in a cliffhanger. Enjoy I did.

Krissy says

Continuing on from "Behind the Scenes", Becca and Parker take to the stage to perform a scene at Scoundrels. This isn't just any scene though, this is Becca's deepest fantasy.

Parker knows how the scene should go but has decided to make his own changes, so that he can claim Becca once and for all and in front of approximately 300 people. He had set Becca up with toys from his bag of tricks before they went on stage and intends to use them to his advantage.

As the scene plays out, Becca loses her inhibitions and instead of acting it all becomes very real. When Parker appears on stage, the woman in the audience start screaming and making declarations but Parker only has eyes for Becca and is focused on what he has planned.

While the scene was indeed hot, it slightly missed that wow factor for me. I was surprised at the end when Parker publicly asks Becca a certain question right after the scene peaks in front of a huge audience.

Obviously the ending is near, so I shall read on.....
