Jackpot:

Close second of the three.

Player's Club:

Probably my favourite of the three.

Two of a Kind:

My least favourite of the three, because it was the least realistic, but not extremely so - still 3 stars. No matter the genre, I like to read books in which, I can imagine that a real 'person' would say, do or react in a similar way.

I thought this trio of short stories was really cute. It was predictable, but a sweet quick read. I'd love to get trapped for a few hours in a dark room with any one of these men, lol

Lisa says

Ugh....this was not what I thought it was...

Sarah Eiseman says

Couldn't get into this book.

This was a book I got as a gift from my mom for v-day this year. She truly didn't read the back I don't think because if she had she would have thought twice, maybe. It was a quick read of three short stories about a blackout and what happens when you put girls and guys in rooms for long amounts of time, that I could NOT put down. Made me think I should take a trip and find me these boys...I would love to spend my blackouts with them.

Side note, HelenKay is a personal friend so take this review as you will.

Another great read from HelenKay. What I enjoy about her novels outside of her Intrigue books is that she's able to get sexy with her characters. This is a collection of three short stories at a fictional casino in Las Vegas. And even though what happens in Vegas is supposed to stay in Vegas, these are three great, fun, sexy stories that need to be told. I'd have to say, the first and third stories were my favorites, I had some issues with the second. I think if it was longer maybe I could have worked through some of them. Other than that, another great read. I'm just sorry that I'm almost done with her backlist. What will I do then?!?!? Oh yeah, poke her until she writes another book.

I was horny and this book has a lot of sex in it so I bought it. I should have bought a Playboy magazine instead.

Easy holiday read, perfect to just escape in.

Rated 3 stars

Anthology of 3 SS's, all written by HelenKay Dimon.

Obviously, the stories took place in Vegas. They were humorous, had romance and a little bit of heat as well as some suspense.

They were okay but nothing to write home about.
