Dear Reader, are you ready for more moonstruck madness? Mix a sassy senorita, an incorrigible Don Juan, and a haunted hacienda, and you get page-turning intrigue and romance.

When American social worker Corinne Diaz arrives at a remote mountain village to volunteer at a local orphanage, she thinks it's a slice of Mexican heaven...until Mark Madison shows up. Saved once again from the clink by his brother, the engineer promises to stay sober and fly right.

Battling the kindling chemistry between them, the stubborn opposites are determined to dispel an old superstition threatening the new orphanage. As the dilemma becomes more sinister, things get hotter than a basket of habaneros. Little do Corinne and Mark realize that while they work to save the project-and their lives-the Mexicalli moon is working on them.

Sometimes an added pinch of faith can make just about anything possible!

Enjoy the lift of laughter, Linda Windsor

Tanya says

This story is about a guy who goes to a small town in Mexico to build an orphanage for his community service after receiving a DWI. He grows and changes as he falls in love with one of the ladies who helps in the orphanage.

Jane says

I started reading this, but I never really got into it and I can't remember finishing it, so I don't think I did. One day I hope to give it another chance cause I liked the first book in the series.

Lori says

This is an easy read, but it is funny and a gentle romance.

Margaret Hardie says

Kind of silly - but it is a light (too light) read - but at least I enjoyed it enough to finish it.

Sandy says

I read all of this series and to be honest I was disappointed. I have read all her other books and these weren't that great.

Mexican Village Setting For This Very Original Romantic Comedy

The plot originality and Mexican setting for this contemporary Christian romance was a delight to read. Wonderfully developed characters that we come to love, including a piglet, and some who are not so nice.

There are some really funny lines and situations throughout this story, along with some suspense, and a mystery and romance.

I believe this is one that I will long remember, and I wish there were many more Christian romances with different locations besides America and the UK.

Highly recommended for those who enjoy reading humor with their romance and reading about other cultures.

Janet Valonis says

I enjoyed the book. Light reading with some suspense.

Pamela(AllHoney) says

The second book in Linda Windsor's Moonstruck series. It was a fun read but not her best. Set in Mexico, Corinne Diaz is a social worker who has come to a remote village to volunteer. Mark Madison, an engineer, shows up and the sparks begin.
