The ELT Daily Journal: Learning to Teach ESL/EFL Hall Houston , Rose Senior (Introduction)

The ELT Daily Journal is a personal journal for ESL/EFL teachers in their first few weeks of teaching or teaching training. It contains a wealth of resources for professional development in ELT. The journal pages give teachers the opportunity to reflect on their teaching, while discovering valuable tips, suggestions, games and activities.

This unique book has an introduction by Dr. Rose Senior (author of The Experience of Language Teaching) and many additional tips by notable authors in ELT including Chia Suan Chong, Duncan Foord, Hanna Kryszewska, Nik Peachey, Eric Roth, Scott Thornbury, and Andrew Wright. Cover artwork by Andrew Starck.

I got this one as part of the Goodreads First Read giveaways.

It's full of nice practical ideas and tips for running an EFL class, though ultimately, this is first and foremost a notebook. There are some interesting pieces about teaching at the end, but nothing you wouldn't have known already from your TEFL course.

Still a nice one to have if you get a bit stuck for ideas.
