The New Deadwardians Dan Abnett

Inspector Suttle returns to London and the perils of Zone-B. Can he trace the mysterious artist whose esoteric symbology haunts the murder to the artists and poets of Whitechapel? The streets of the Bright Quarters are dangerous, and this time, the Quenchmen are out for the blood of young intruders asking awkward questions...

Charles Gory says

Enjoyable spin on the police procedural. Up there with Mutuk Wolfsbreath as a favorite juxtaposition of detective fiction. Glad I waited until I had all eight. Hope the do another in a year or two.
