Holly Rea says

This is the first book I ever remember reading and I love it. I always wanted a dog because of this book. It's loveable and endearing and full of important messages for kids growing up. Shadow and the gang are the best. Fond memories.

Adam Cleaver says

Remember being read this one at school. then I liked it so much that I went and bought it from a 2nd hand book shop. Was probably the first Blyton book I ever read.

Ana says

Uma excelente história para a faixa etária para a qual foi escrita.

Helen Kelly says

My English Grandma gave me this book for my birthday in the 60's. I still have it. Very sweet story and helped me along the road to my love of reading. Nothing like getting lost in a book.

J.S. says

Childhood favorite. Read it a gazillion times and never tired of it.

Trisha says

This was the first chapter book I ever read. Our landlady in Harrow, UK gave it to me as a Christmas gift in 1959 -- it was my favorite book for the longest time. A dear, dear friend found a copy in a London bookstore a few years ago and gave it to me as a Christmas present -- best gift I ever received.

David Evans says

Feel good story about intelligent loyal English Sheepdog (like Lassie) and his sheep-farm boy owner Johnny. Shadow gets up to all sorts of adventures and incurs the jealousy of his fellow working dogs but continues to save Johnny from nasty gypsies and his bravery culminates in saving newborn lambs from vicious Golden

Eagles which he kills thereby making this magnificent species extinct in England, incurring a £5,000 fine from the RSPB and being put down. Oh well c'est la vie. (only joking)

Saurabh says

The book which got me addicted to reading- i must have read it at least 20 times and enjoy flipping pages thru it even now! also the book responsible for my love for k9 tales! shadow, love u!

Lucy says

I adored this book as a child and read it over and over again. It was one of mum's childhood favourites too. Enid Blyton at her best.

Gabby says

this was my first chapter book and i have read it many times. it never loses excitement and i will love it forever.

Stacey Jade says

I may turn 26 in just over a week, but I can still enjoy a good children's story. This was my first time reading Shadow the Sheep Dog, I found it on a second-hand bookshelf at work and thought it was worth trying. Having read a number of Enid Blyton books growing up, this one was just as fun. Easy to read, full of adventure and a happy ending.

Pauline says

My Grand-parents gave me this book for Christmas, when I think I was about six or seven years old. My first ever to read by myself book, I loved it, so much that by the age of ten, I could repeat whole chapters off-by-heart.

Rebecca McNutt says

Wonderful book for kids, well-written and detailed with beautiful text and imagery. Shadow is a great canine character and Shadow's owner is easy for kids to relate to.

Col says

My boys (6&3) absolutely loved this one! A 1952 version of the book was being passed around my wider family and all the nieces and nephews ended up talking like dogs when recounting the tales and adventures of Johnny and Shadow.

It is a little dated (like most Enid Blighton books these days) but I am not sure why this one hasn't been re-printed like all the others.

Dru says

it not true what Missis Blighton said what we kilt the eagle no we never Shadow just find it with super strong nose show Johhny Johhny say let take eagle home it die natral corses dont care wot Orris Peaby say was true about gypsies mind Shadow see gypsy Shadow bite
